DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgement is made of the amendment filed by the applicant on 6/19/2008, in which claim 7, 11, 13, 17, and 18 were amended and 1-6 and 12 were cancelled. Claims 7-11, 13-15 and 17-28 are currently pending in U.S. Application Serial No. 10/501,072.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claim 18 has the statement "wherein said substrate is metal foil and/or plastic film or a composite of metal foil and plastic film," which is confusing because if the substrate is a metal foil and plastic film it would therefore be a composite of metal foil and plastic film. The Examiner would recommend stating "wherein said substrate is metal foil, plastic film or a composite of metal foil and plastic film."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 1792

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dobashi et al. (JP 60255873 A).

Dobashi teaches a surface protecting composition which adheres firmly to the surface of metal plates, plastic sheets or glass plates and protects the substrates during further work on the surface (see advantage section of translation). The composition comprise a radiation curable liquid composition and a pressure sensitive adhesive (see abstract). The radiation curable composition comprises a polymerizable compound comprising two or more copolymerizable, ethylenically unsaturated groups (see basic abstract of translation) as required by claim 7. The composition comprises 100 wt percent of the polymerizable compound as required by claim 8. The mixture comprises 0.1-9 weight parts of a pressure sensitive adhesive (see abstract) as required by claim 11. The glass transition temperature of EVA is about -17C as required by claims 20 and 25. The radiation composition comprises an acrylic adhesive such as acrylate copolymer as required by claims 19 and 24.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1792

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dobashi et al. (JP 60255873 A).

Dobashi et al. discloses a mixture having a radiation curable portion and a pressure sensitive portion and is used as a surface protecting composition for metal plates, plastic sheets or glass plates as stated above.

Dobashi et al. does not state the actual applying of the mixture. However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention that if the mixture is sued as a surface film and can be used on such surfaces that it would have been applied to a surface therefore creating a coated.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 9-10, 13-15, 21-23, and 26-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

After further search and review of the previously presented prior art, the Examiner has to withdraw the allowability of the claims as presented in the previous office action. The Examiner apologizes for any inconvenience.
